

THE ROAD TO RE-DOVE-RY

Sarah B. is a licensed Veterinary Technician that breeds diamond doves (Geopelia cuneata). She shared with us her story of how Zoo Med's Avian Electrolytes revived one of her chicks:

"Typically parents raise their own chicks, but every so often a parent will kick a chick out too early and I have to rear them by hand.

This season, one particular chick was pushed out too early and was so weak, it wouldn't eat and just slumped over when I tried to pick it up. Attempts to hand feed made no difference and I was convinced at that point the chick wouldn't make it. Then I remembered, I had samples of Zoo Med's Avian Electrolytes. I hadn't used it before, but as a last-ditch effort to save the chick, I added it to its water. Within 2 days of offering the electrolytes, he was at full health again! Within 2 weeks he was ready to be sold to his new home, and I'm fully convinced that if it wasn't for the Avian Electrolytes I had on hand, that baby wouldn't have made it. I now have Avian Electrolyte as a staple in my medicine box.

I really like that the Avian Electrolytes have no fat-soluble vitamins in them because as a Vet Tech, I've seen many cases of over-supplementation of fat-soluble vitamins. I also love that the Avian Electrolytes has probiotics because I feel that's an ingredient lacking in the industry."
